To the FCC, and whomever it concerns,
I highly object to the current moves in the government to limit Satellite Radio's ability to provide localized information over it's airwaves. The NAB is merely trying to limit XM and Sirius's push into new, exciting services by whining, instead of improving their own services.

Please do not allow this measure to pass, as it merely limits competition by satellite radio with the current broadcasts in use today. Many radio stations cannot match the variety of satellite radio, and they know it. Stop this strong-arm campaign by FM Radio stations, let Satellite radio continue to improve it's service to it's PAYING customers.
